The commissioners heretofore appointed under the former interlocutory decree in this cause having reported to the Court that they had effected the sale of the land and slaves in that decree mentioned, and had turned over ^{the bonds to} the defendant David I. Boykin as administrator of John Boykin dec.^d, but had not proceeded to make the several divisions and allotments indicated in the said decree, and it appearing proper to the Court on mature examination of the cause that the accounts of the said David I. Boykin's administration on the said estate should be audited and closed, so that final distribution may be made among all the parties respectively; It is ordered that Master Commissioner Cobb, state and settle the account current of the said David I. Boykin, as administrator of the said John Boykin dec.^d including not only the funds turned over to him by the said former commissioners, but such balance as may appear transferable from the accounts of the said David I. Boykin, as executor of Daniel Boykin dec.^d, to the estate of the said John Boykin dec.^d and all other his administration, and having ascertained the balance in his hands subject to distribution among the legal heirs and distributees of the said John Boykin dec.^d, that the said Commissioner proceed to divide that sum in the same number of shares and in the same proportion and on the same principles as are indicated in the former decree in this cause, (which is to be considered a part of this order) and allot to the parties respectively by the several sums, to which they may be entitled, according to their several interests, as expounded in the said decree, and report the said account and division to this Court in order to further proceedings.

Commr's Office Nov^r 14/1824

In obedience to the amended decree copied above, your commissioner has allotted to Faithes Harwell widow of Daniel Boykin one third of the balance due the estate of ^{her} said husband, including principal & interest up to the first day of December 1824 amounting to the sum of $156.28 of Principal to carry interest from the above date and the sum of $12.09 of interest due at the same time. In consequence of this alteration in the accounts it will be necessary to make another statement of the administration account of John Boykins estate, as that estate will only have credit for the remaining two thirds of the balance due from his father's estate instead of the whole as heretofore; and therefore a new distributive account in consequence of the said alterations is also made up, all of which is herewith stated
