This cause came on again this day to be heard on the papers formally read, the reports of the Commissioners heretofore appointed, to assign dower and make sale of the real estate of George Gardner deceased to which no exceptions were filed, and was argued by counsel.
On consideration whereof the Court doth conform the said reports, and it appearing by the report of Jesse Drury the Commissioners who sold the land under a decree of this Court of the thirtieth day of October 1835, that the bonds taken for the purchase money, are now due and payable, and it manifestly appearing that the proceeds of the sales of the said real estate are insufficient to pay and satisfy the debts reported by the Commissioners of this Court to be due to the respective creditors of the said George Gardner deceased, The Court doth further adjudge, order and decree, that the said Jesse Drury proceed forthwith to collect by suit or otherwise, the monies due on the bonds taken for the sales of the said real estate, from the obligors named therein, and after first deducting the costs of this suit together with the charges and expenses therein to distribute and ^{pay off the} net proceeds thereof proportionally among the several creditors of the said George Gardner deceased according to their respective debts ascertained and decreed to be due to them by a decree of this Court of the aforesaid thirtieth day of October 1835, and that he make report thereof to Court in order to a final decree.
