Whereas, John Crumpler on the 11th day of January 1855, by deed conveyed to John Drillon a tract of land containing thirty acres more or less as well as certain other property named in the said deed, in trust to secure the payment of his to the said Crumpler's debt. And whereas the said John Crumpler is deceased and the property conveyed to the said John Drillon by the deed aforesaid should be released and recovered to him which the several creditors specially named in the said deed are willing should be done without admitting however that their debts have been paid. Now therefore therefore John Drillon in consideration of the premises as well as of the sum of one dollar to him in hand paid hereby releases & recovers to the said John Crumpler the tract of land aforesaid and all the personal property conveyed to him, the said John Drillon by the deed aforesaid refused to. And the said John Drillon warrants specially the property hereby released & recovered.

Witness the following signature & seal this 27th day of January 1855.
