		W. S. Goodwyn, Comr.

The Comr states specially that the above account was up from receipts of the late guardian, laid before the com by one of the parties. It seems that the guardian never rendered an account during his life: and therefore no commissions are allowed him as objection was made. The ward was the daughter of her guardian and as there was no evidence before the com. to show that he was not able to support and maintain her without the application of her funds, nothing was allowed.
