The Comr. begs leave to state specially that in the above account it will be found that the Exor: is charged with certain amounts due the estate from himself J. A. Dawson and H. Pate, all of whom are creditors of the estate. The Comr. did not allow the Executor Commissions on those acts, which make together the sum of $176.89 in 1850, and $50.50 in 1851, which ought to have been deducted by the exor: and the balance charged in order to save the estate from an escape of Commissions. The error herein is corrected in the above account as stated: and the several amts: were included only to show the complete transactions of the exor:.
