

Britte, I give the said Land to my son William G. Britte and his heirs, but if the said William G. Britte, should die without an heir lawfully begotten - the said Land, to be equally divided among my surviving sons - I then give my Daughter Emmy Britte one feather bed and furniture, and one cow and calf of my estate I also give my Daughter Elizabeth Britte, one feather bed and furniture and one cow and calf - The remainder of my estate I lend to my wife Elizabeth Britte during her life or widowhood and at the death of my wife, I leave the property about to my wife to be equally divided between my four Daughters Emmy Britte Rhoda Gilliam Cherry Jones and Elizabeth Britte, I also make this observe that the debts that I owe at my death be paid by my son William G. Britte, as the Land left him is more than an equal share with the rest. I also nominate and appoint my two sons Nathan Britte and William G. Britte and Jacob Barrett Executors to this my Last will and testament in witness whereof I hereunto set my hand and seal this day of _____ in the year of
